

TOP TEN REASONS TO

RECOMMIT

1. Our Jobs – Keeping our union strong is essential to protecting our jobs from privatization and other unwise political decisions. We must continue to stand together in order to keep fighting for improvements.
2. Our Services – We know firsthand how important the services are that we provide to our fellow residents. By remaining united in our union, we can fight against the service cuts that our adversaries keep proposing.
3. Our Wages and Benefits – Our union has fought to win fair wages and benefits for the work that we do. We must keep fighting to prevent unfair cuts and push for needed improvements.
4. Our Working Conditions – We need to work together to maintain decent working conditions. We must be a part of the solution when there are problems in our workplaces.
5. Our Power – Our union gives us power – the ability to control our destiny in the workplace, in the community, at the ballot box, and in the legislature. Now more than ever, it is based on the actions that we take together as members our union.
6. Our Families – When we recommit to our union, we are doing not just for ourselves but also because our families benefit when our union remains strong and united.
7. Our Rights – Our rights are under attack. Staying united will enable us to enforce our remaining rights and to wage a strong fight to restore the rights Walker took away.
8. Our Freedom and Our Future – We must preserve our freedom to participate in the decisions that affect us in the workplace. Keeping our union strong enables us to keep working for a better future.
9. Our Voice – Our union gives us a voice. By recommitting and speaking together, we can make sure that our concerns are heard.
10. Our Fight – We are in a fight, and the time to recommit is now. Standing together makes it possible to continue the fight to recall Walker, for dignity and respect, for fairness in the workplace, and to protect essential public services – through collective action.

Recalling Scott Walker is important. Recommitting to our union is just as important. Do it today.

Visit www.wseu-24.org and find us on Facebook.